

There is a theory that intelligence is a form DE evolution. Most people that gain a large amount of knowledge and logic
Tend to be less likely to reproduce. They say there is dangerous knowledge. Knowing the truth about life and the universe
Could be detrimental to you mental well being, which will sometimes lead to suicide.
Unfortunately I think I understand this.
Dual diagnosis doesn't help the mix either. Having mental problems and self medicating with drugs that are not per scribed can Sometimes have a negative effect on artists and great thinkers. Knowing we are alone leads to self destructive thoughts, I agree.
It doesn't really matter because we will be dead soon and not be aware of the loneliness, so in a way it's just a minor Inconvenience in life I suppose. The government does a good job with big #'s but when it tries to help Samuel or babe the artist,
It may lead to useful participation in this wonderful society, and of course there are the other things, like exploitation. I am OK with that There was a point in my life where I would cry for my fellow humans around me.
Everywhere I saw beauty and potential and I watched there minds
Rot in their own waste of time. Now I don't give a shit about the weak as much, because of there lack of learning drive and self discovery.
What has not changed is I still cry, but not for humanity, selfish reasons of course. Makes me a bad citizen in our community, but
The art comes out better. Lonely selfish personal desire to conspire the plot of reaching a level of consciousness that will inspire many Or lead to our own demise.

p.s. I hate it too when guys try to fuck me because they are acting smart. And women who act dumb to fuck me too. It's always 4 AM for me